

Williamsburg Presents:

Here, Now and Down the Road...Tips for Loving Parents

Here, Now and Down the Road is a strengths-based program that affirms parents as significant people who can shape a bright future for their children. It fosters positive parent-child relationships and enhances parents' skills in guiding their children toward safe, healthy, and productive lifestyles. Adults have fun expressing their own feelings, ideas, and creativity and learning ways to do the same with their children. As they share experiences and learn from each other, parents in the program gain hope for their children's futures.

This 9 week class will be offered at the Family Focus Williamsburg location:

York River Baptist Church, 8201 Croaker Road, Williamsburg.

FREE CHILDCARE will be provided.

Dates: January 25th – March 21st
(Friday Mornings)

Time: 9:40 am – 11:20 am

Call 566-9777 to register

Williamsburg Community Health Foundation

Family Focus is a program of the Colonial Services Board.
This class is funded by a Williamsburg Community Health Foundation Grant.